

April 1367

The first attempt to return the Papacy was made in April 1367, by Urban V, largely through the persuasion of the emperor, Charles IV of Bohemia.

In Oct 1367, the Pope entered Rome, and for the 1st time in 63 yrs, a pope celebrated mass in St. Peter's, the old Palace of the Pops, the Lateran was in ruins; henceforth the Popes took up their residence in the Vatican, conveniently near the refuge of the Castle of St. Angelo.

Apr 1370 Urban set up on his return to Avignon
